COLOR SYMBOL MADE PLAIN

Explanation of Why Boy Baby Wears Blue While His Sister is Costumed in Pink.

Why should the color symbol of a boy baby be blue and that of the girl pink? Of course the normal color of both is pink, and in excess of crying both are pretty sure to become blue. And yet none of these things explains the fashion of the Russian nurse maid—for there are nurse maid fashions, just as there are fashion show modes and the like. So it is that a traveler to whom the custom brings novel wonders why a nurse whom he sees arrayed in the detractive impressiveness of the national costume—say, in a blue color scheme—should appear an hour later in a pink plan of attire.

Here, then, is the explanation. The custom is that if her charge be a boy her dress must be blue; if the child be a girl her dress must be pink. Some one has pointed out that here is shown the ancient relation of the sexes, for as in railroad signaling red denotes danger and green safety, so with the color scheme of babes—for pink is no more than an infant red; and blue, with more vitality of blending, easily becomes a green.

KING OF OFFICE BUILDINGS

Monster Structure Which is Now Being Put Up at New York Will Be a Marvel.

New York is witnessing the construction of the largest office building in the world. This has become a familiar announcement in the town of towering structures. The new building will weigh more than 200,- 000 tons as compared with the 103,- 000 tons of the Woolworth building, the 188,500 tons of the Municipal building and the 82,580 tons of the Singer building.

To properly secure the architectural titan a great cofferdam is built about the area to be occupied by it, so that it will really be "founded upon a rock." This foundation is of solid concrete, a wall six feet broad and eighty feet deep, extending this distance to bedrock.

The building will have one million feet of rentable space and tower aloft to the height of thirty-six stories. It is not, therefore, the structure of greatest height, but its area of floor space is the determining factor in its claim to being the greatest of the world's office buildings.

FORTUNATE TENANTS.

In Sydney street, Chelsea, England, people are living rent free.
But this is not the only place so distinguished. When the lease of a house in parts of England is running out, the owner sometimes finds it more economical to abandon his property and avoid paying the ground landlord $500 or so upon what are termed dilapidations.
Meanwhile the tenant lives happily without a landlord. Some houses are forsaken even when the leases are not expiring. Here the explanation is that the owners are mortgaged up to the extreme limit. If tax rates go up and rents go down there is no balance left to maintain the property, and so it is not worth keeping. Should the property require heavy expenditure for repairs, the mortgagees refrain from claiming it. Occasionally, too, owners die, leaving no one to succeed them, and then tenants with sufficient audacity can lie low and "squat" until twenty years' undisturbed possession gives them permanent ownership.

SAWDUST TO PUT OUT FIRE.

Few of us would think of throwing ordinary sawdust on a fire as a means of extinguishing it, yet for certain sorts of fires it has proven unusually effective. Water is, of course, of no avail in dealing with blazing oils. Sand has been heretofore recognized as the proper extinguisher for incipient oil fires, but some daring genius tried sawdust and found that when thrown on the surface of the blazing oil it extinguished the blaze. Sawdust extinguishes the flames by smothering them, which is the only effective method in oil fire. It is more effective than sand, because it floats on the surface of the oil, while sand sinks through.—Farm Machinery.

SET LIVING STANDARD HIGH

American People Rank as the Least Thrifty of the Nations of the Earth.

Americans are the least thrifty of all nations. We rank below even Japan and Italy in this respect. In Switzerland there are 544 depositors in savings banks for every 1,000 of population. In America only 99 de-positors for each 1,000 of population.

Commenting on this fact the Nantulus Magazine says:

Life has grown more and more complex at a bewildering pace in America. The more we have gained in our conquest of material things the more we have wanted. We have not been content with simple living well within our means. We have constantly reached out to make a showing equal to our more wealthy neighbors. This has become almost a mania among Americans of all classes. And having succeeded in raising our standard of living, by strenuous and unremitting effort to get ahead, we have not found ourselves any happier or healthier or more useful to ourselves or others.

What we need is to popularize simpler standards of living.

We ought to make it the custom, make it fashionable, for each family to live within its means.

A man who earns $10,000 a year and spends more is no better off at the end of the year, and no happier, than the man who earns but $2,000 a year.

It is our ideals, our purposes and our standards of living that play the great part in making us really happy and successful, or the reverse.

BEGINNINGS OF FREE SPEECH

English House of Commons First Deliberative Body to Assert Right of Discussion.

The first legislative body of modern times to claim the rights of free speech and free discussion was the English house of commons, which declared in favor of such a right on December 19, in the year 1621. This brave declaration marked a most important step towards the liberties of England and of all the world. Prior to that time the members of the commons did not dare to criticize the ruling powers. It was this parliament which first formed the court and country parties, and which had engaged in disputes with James I.
Eight years after the declaration of free speech Charles I. dissolved parliament, and it did not meet again for eleven years. In 1640, however, what was called the "long parliament" was convened. It was this house of commons that first attacked the house of lords and voted that the upper chamber was useless and dangerous to the liberties of the country.
The bishops were also excluded from voting on temporal matters. The house of peers was abolished in 1649, but four years later Cromwell dissolved the long parliament.

BALD.

"He says he always takes his wife's advice."

"He's a no such thing. Look at the top of his head."

"Perhaps he takes it after a struggle."

LOTS OF EXCITEMENT.

"Plenty of excitement at the Wembat wedding."

"So."

"Even the horse threw a shoe."

AMBIGUOUS.

"You remember, I barely missed you several times last year."

"Yes," said the guide.

"Well, I'm a better shot now."

UNENCOURAGED.

"Is that boy of yours learning to play the piano?"

"I hope he is. But from the way it sounds I don't think so."

PARADOXICAL HUMOR.

"What makes Smith's drinking jokes so popular?"

"I suppose it is the dry way he has of telling them."

ADVANTAGE OF EGOISM.

He—Bighedde is always thinking for himself.

She—Yes. In that way he always avoids having much on his mind.

JEALOUS DOUBTS.

"Your neighbor, Mrs. Comeup, has so much savoir faire."
